

LLELA has a new Pollinator Garden!

Please join us for the Pollinator Garden's Grand Opening
9:30—11:30 a.m. on Saturday, May 18, 2013:

- 9:30 a.m. — Ribbon cutting and welcome from LLELA Director Ken Steigman
- 10:00 a.m. — Wildflower walk in the garden with Rosemary Carrizales, Pollinator Garden volunteer project coordinator
- 10:30 a.m. — Pollinator talk/walk in the garden with Mike Merchant, Texas A & M AgriLife Urban Entomologist
- 11:00 a.m. — Butterfly walk with LLELA Director Ken Steigman
- 9:30—11:30 a.m. Kids can make a Pollinator Pal at our craft station

Admission to LLELA is $5/person; children 5 years and younger are free.

Our entrance is at 201 E. Jones St., Lewisville, TX 75057. Please visit www.ias.unt.edu/llela or call 972-219-3930 for more information.

The Pollinator Garden provides LLELA visitors with an opportunity to view North Texas prairie grasses and wildflowers while also giving a boost to our native pollinators. Populations of bees, butterflies and other pollinating insects are in steep decline across the United States due to loss of habitat, overuse of insecticides and other environmental issues. Without these often unappreciated creatures, about 75 percent of our flowering plants and crops would not develop fruit or seeds.

